He stated that there are 404 boys now at the School with 25 boys in each cottage, grouped according to age. A question and answer period followed Mr. Vitich's talk.

RESOLUTION OF RESPECT

In memory of Brother John E. Cochran, Sr., Who passed away March 17th. A. D. 1962 A. L. 5962 The Angel of Death has invaded the ranks of the Craft and summoned one of the true and faithful. His passing leaves a pang of sorrow, and a feeling of sadness. His voice will be heard no more around the altar of masonry, but the noble example of his unselfish and devoted life will continue to live, to guide the footsteps and direct the conduct of many men.

His achievement and sacrifices will live in the hearts of the Craft, and we shall think of him as living a beautiful, ascending and expanding life, made radiant by the lights of true Fraternal love.

Resolved that Everglades Lodge No. 211 F. & A. M. of Pahokee Florida in testimony of our loss, be draped in mourning for the proper period and that we tender the family our deepest sympathy in their affliction, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family.

"Today we need a nation of Minute Men citizens who regard the preservation of freedom as a basic purpose of their daily life"

—JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

10 days after his inauguration as the 35th President of the United States.

Twenty years ago, in the dark, uneasy days before Pearl Harbor, the Minute Man of Concord, timeless symbol of our Nation's determination to defend its freedom, emerged as the emblem of the U. S. Savings Bonds Program. When war came, the Minute Man became the rallying force behind the huge and overwhelmingly successful effort to back our fighting men with War Bonds.

In this, the 20th anniversary year of Savings Bonds, the Minute Man of Concord calls all Americans to an unrelenting effort to help preserve our peace and freedom, threatened by forces more powerful and resourceful than those we faced in 1941. Though this effort will take many forms, one way open to all is the continued investment in Shares in America, U. S. Savings Bonds, by "citizens who regard the preservation of freedom as a basic purpose of their daily life."

Passion Play Has Record Attendance

LAKE WALES — The world-famous Black Hills Passion Play closed its tenth season in Florida Easter Sunday with a record-breaking attendance of 47,362, almost 6,000 more than its previous high of 41,571 in 1953.

The level of economic literacy in America must be raised if we expect to form intelligent opinions concerning many of the problems, at home and abroad, which we face today.

From the problems of agriculture which we in Florida are endeavoring to solve, clear on up to the broad farm problems which are national in scope, the problems of domestic fiscal and tax policies, and the broader problems of international trade and foreign relations, it requires some understanding of economics to arrive at a well-balanced appraisal.

Our appalling economic illiteracy in America today was emphasized recently by Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges. In a straight-from-the-shoulder article in a national magazine he points out that:

"No more than 10 to 15 per cent of today's highschool students — tomorrow's citizens and voters — will ever take a separate course in economics, either in highschool or in college.

"Of the 50 states, only 16 require an elementary course in economics to qualify for teaching in highschool social studies — the area where most students get their highschool graduates show that only one-fourth realize that the surest way to raise the standard of living is to produce more goods per man-hours. Many think you can push up standards simply by raising wages or increasing Government spending."

In this fast changing world of ours, we in Florida have been learning that we can not ignore the influence of products from other states that compete with ours in national markets. As American citizens we've been learning that our nation can't insulate itself from the rest of the world.

Now we must decide the course America must take to assure ourselves the strongest possible domestic economy while at the same time preserving the utmost strength of our position in the growing economic competition between nations.

Economics — economics — economics! Wherever you turn in agriculture, in business, in industry, in government, in the everyday routine of family living, problems involving economics are encountered. If we continue at our present level of economic illiteracy, how can we expect to have the judgment to choose a course that will preserve our American way of life?

What is economics? Here's the definition by Webster's dictionary: "The science that investigates the conditions and laws affecting the production, distribution and consumption of wealth, or the material means of satisfying human needs."

And what does it do for us? To quote Secretary Hodges: "Economics offers a way of deciding the relative merits of this course or that. It insists that we define problems in terms of facts and identify our objectives in some order of priority. It tells us to examine alternative ways to achieve our objectives, and it gives us tools to measure the likely consequences of the various possible actions. In short, it equips us for orderly thinking about our resources."

If you think the subject isn't important, let me quote Secretary Hodges' closing remarks:

"Years ago someone said that economics was the science of stating the obvious in terms that are incomprehensible. Economics is not — incomprehensible as some schoolchildren know. And what it teaches is certainly not obvious, for otherwise there would be no problem of economic illiteracy.

"Americans can — and must — learn their economic ABC's: for at bottom the case for economics is the case for democracy itself — government by the people. If a democracy is to cope effectively with economic issues, the people must understand."

The complexities of agricultural marketing involve economics in a big way. Some of our progressive producers in Florida have learned that promotion of their commodity in a manner that goes direct to the ultimate consumer is one of the most effective means of strengthening a marketing program.

According to a recent report, Georgia and Alabama peanut farmers are doubling their budget for promotion this year. Says one Alabama grower: "Six years ago our state's surplus was 38 per cent of production. Last year, sales of peanut butter — where most of Alabama's peanuts are used — were up by 14.2 per cent and the surplus was down to 17.5 per cent."

His comment: "Promotion pays!"

1331 BACOM POINT ROAD
PAHOKEE, FLORIDA

My Fellow Citizens,

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to those who supported my candidacy for City Commissioner in Group 2 in the City Primary on May 8th. I hope you will continue your support in the run-off to be held Tuesday, May 15th.

I would like to repeat that I have been a resident of Pahokee for 42 years; that I am a Veteran of World War I; that I plan to continue to live in Pahokee for the rest of my life; that I have devoted many years of my life to public service, and that I have the know-how to thoroughly qualify me to represent you on the City Commission.

I will assure you that regardless of any rumors you may have heard to the contrary, I will, if elected use my influence to see that Pahokee will continue to be a clean and progressive community.

I ask that you take a good look at the newly rebuilt portion of Bacom Point Road between Lake Ave., and the City Park. I believe the appearance of this street would do credit to any community, and would like to see this project continued for the entire length of our City.

I do not believe in making extravagant promises which may be impossible to keep, and which are only calculated to get votes, but I would like to repeat the promises I made in my original appeal:

1. I will make a sincere effort to attend all official meetings of the City Council.
2. I will make an effort to promote better cooperation between the City Government and the East Beach Drainage District.
3. I will do everything in my power to give you an honest and efficient administration of City affairs, and give you the greatest possible benefit from your tax dollar.

I will sincerely appreciate your vote and continued support of my candidacy for City Commissioner in Group 2 in the runoff election to be held May 15th.

Sincerely yours,

Carmen Salvatore

Christian Science Group Of Canal Point

The perfect nature of spiritual creation will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Among the Bible passages to be read in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Adam and Fallen Man" is this one from Genesis (1): "And God said, Let us make man in our image after our likeness. . . So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them." From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this citation will be read: "God created all through Mind, and made all perfect and eternal" (p. 205).

The Golden Text is from Job (8): "Behold, God will not cast away a perfect man, neither will he help the evil doers."

Miss Ila Mae Smith Weds M A Kennedy

Miss Ila Mae Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Smith of Canal Point, became the bride of Morris Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman A. Kennedy of Pahokee on Saturday, May 5 at 4 p. m. in the Canal Point Methodist Church. Rev. Robert A. Shelley officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with arrangements of white gladioli, white pom-poms, Easter lilies and Queen Anne's lace. The scene was lighted with four seven-branched candelabra bearing white tapers. Two large baskets of gladioli and pom-poms with clipped areca palm fronds and potted palms completed the background. Family pews were marked with bows of white satin ribbon, white net and gardenias.

Milton Carpenter, soloist, who sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "Because" was accompanied by Miss Betty Johnson, pianist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace designed with fitted bodice, bateau boat neckline and long sleeves ending in lily points over her hands. Her full skirt featured an overskirt of silk organza, draped with self material rosebuds, with two tiers of lace ruffles forming a bouffant train. Her elbow length veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls. Her cascade bouquet of white carnations and white sat in streamers studded with fragrant orange blossoms, was centered with a white orchid. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Billy Culberson, matron of honor, and Miss Naomi Elliott, bridesmaid, wore identical gowns of yellow embroidered silk organza over tulle with matching crownless hats. They carried miniature bridal bouquets of yellow and white pom-poms.

The best man was Michael Wil- son of Orlan and ushers were Bill and Bob Kennedy, twin brothers of the groom.

Mrs. Smith, mother of the bride, chose pastel blue lace with matching hat and white accessories. The mother of the groom wore beige silk brocade with green hat and bone accessories. Both mothers and Mrs. Dewey Morris, grandmother of the groom, wore orchid corsages.

A reception was held in the social hall of the church immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. Remer Young, Jr. was in charge of the guest book at a table covered with a white crocheted cloth and centered with an arrangement of white pom-poms and white gardenias. The bride's table was attractive with an embroidered white rice linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of lavender and white spring flowers. The four-tiered wedding cake, decorated with lavender roses, was served by Mrs. Michael Wilson. Mrs. Bob Mobley served the punch.

The groom's cake, in little white decorated bags, was presented to each guest by Mrs. Robert Hutton. Mrs. Delmar Hooks, Mrs. Ralph Maxson and Mrs. Cliff Stuart assisted at the reception.

For travel, the bride wore a gray silk brocade dress with matching short jacket and red accessories. Her corsage was the white orchid from her bouquet. After a brief honeymoon on the East Coast, the young couple are making their home at Hooks Apartments on Lake Shore Drive in Canal Point.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Pahokee High School. She is employed in the office of GCI at Belle Glade and he is associated with City Products of Pahokee.

In June, they plan to leave on a trip to Washington, D. C., Niagara Falls and Canada. Then they will make their home in New York State where he will join the farming operations of A. N. Kennedy & Son at Groveland, N. Y.
